OUR DEDICATION TO

MR. ROBERT THOMPSON

As our advisor, you have spent many hours working with us on our projects. It is obvious from the way you helped us that your profession is very important to you. Your patience and understanding will always be remembered.

With many thanks, Mr. Thompson, the class of '70 wishes to dedicate this yearbook to you.

FOREWORD

The 1970 Chronoscope is a student view of a year that has become only a memory.

The year 1970 will rapidly become almost indistinguishable from all that has gone before and will follow; but what time erases, this book will preserve.

What began in the cool, autumn month of September has now become a full cycle with the line of commencement.

In the classroom as well as on the court, students met victory and defeat. As a group and as individuals we face the opportunities of tomorrow, and will keep our goals set high.

For some, this was a year of initiation; for others a year of preparation.

1969-70 was a teacher . . . friends . . . a memory . . . hope . . . fear . . . the past . . . pointing on toward the future.

Moments of Friendship . . .

. . . Freedom . . .

... Spirit ...

... Thought ...

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

A noted economist recently pointed our factually that the best single financial investment a person can make in a lifetime is an investment in himself. He further explained that the best way to invest in oneself is through education, specialized training, and the development of skills.

You students have now invested thirteen years in a basic formal education. To receive the greatest financial benefit from the first thirteen years you must now be willing to commit even more time to additional training or education. This added investment in yourself will present more opportunities for success in your lifetime.

Mr. William Mannisto

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

This class of 1970 will be the men and women of the '70's. Much will be expected from each individual. The members of this class will face the challenge of solving the problems of poverty, war, pollutions, crime, and almost an endless list of society's illnesses. To many people, this is a depressing future; but I hope that each member of this class will look forward to the challenges with an eager anticipation. There is no better future for any person than the possibility of being a responsible citizen of the society that will meet and conquer the challenges.

Mr. Gordon Gustafson
